1. WFTU Congress reflects international power alignments--Ambassador Smith in Moscow has been told by an "astute and balanced" US delegate to the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) that (a) discussions in the current WFTU Congress in Moscow tend increasingly to parallel the diplomatic conflicts between the USSR and the Western Powers, and (b) "the Russians have taught us that trade unions must follow the policies of their respective governments." The delegate has concluded, however, that Soviet labor leaders "are still imbued with the concept of world revolution."
2. State Department favors admission of Italy and Austria to UN--The State Department has informed Herschel Johnson that it has "reviewed its position" on Italy and Austria and still feels that "an effort" should be made to obtain their admission into the UN this summer because it would give both countries a desirable "psychological lift." However, the Department feels that Austria should not be admitted before Italy and that support for Austria "should be dropped" if Italy's admission is blocked.
3. Possible Yugoslav-Albanian federation--According to US representatives in Tirana and Sofia, there is some evidence to substantiate rumors that the current talks in Belgrade between Tito and Albanian Premier Hoxha foreshadow an imminent Yugoslav-Albanian federation. Embassy Ankara reports that the Yugoslav Embassy recently announced that it would henceforth represent Albanian interests in Turkey.

5. AUSTRIA: US to sign new control machinery agreement--The War Department has authorized General Clark to sign the new control machinery agreement (which increases the autonomy of the Austrian Government) at the Allied Council meeting on 28 June [REDACTED]

6. USSR: Emphasis on small Soviet ruling group--Ambassador Smith in Moscow reports that Soviet press photographs of Soviet leaders, published in connection with the death of former President Kalinin, further stress the importance in the Soviet hierarchy of Georgi Malenkov, Levverenti Beriya, and a small group within the Politburo [redacted]

[redacted] The eminence of this group is believed by Smith to suggest that Stalin considers the present period to be "one of crisis for the regime" which requires vigorous internal control and safeguards against foreign subversive influences.

7. USSR: Soviet views on atomic energy--Smith reports that a 15 June NEW TIMES article by the chief Soviet authority on atomic energy reaffirms certain basic Soviet tenets and propaganda themes concerning the military and political implications of atomic energy. The article illustrates the tendency in Soviet propaganda to minimize or deny the revolutionary military implications of atomic energy, and stresses the Marxist thesis that capitalist economic "contradictions" and monopolies ultimately transform productive forces into destructive ones.

8. GREECE: US advises postponement of Premier's trip to US--The State Department has instructed Embassy Athens to discourage any plans for Premier Tsaldaris to visit Washington at the present time. Tsaldaris told Charge Rankin in Athens that he is keenly disappointed at the postponement because (a) he had planned the Washington visit to demonstrate that Greece is a sovereign state rather than a British satellite, (b) he fears that the Department's attitude indicates disapproval of his Government's policies, and (c) he will be blamed in Greece for his apparent failure to initiate timely negotiations for US economic aid after the termination of UNRRA.

9. TURKEY: Soviets propose bilateral discussions--The Turkish Foreign Minister has informed Ambassador Wilson that the Soviets apparently are attempting to lead Turkey into "bilateral talks" and thereby cause friction between Turkey and the US and UK. The Soviet Ambassador recently proposed to disregard the question of Turkey's eastern provinces if Turkey would discuss the question of Soviet bases in the Straits. The Soviet Ambassador suggested that these bases would only parallel "US air bases in Turkey."

25X1 10. IRAN: New Kurdish uprising--US Consulate Tabriz reports that [redacted] new and serious disorders have developed in Iranian Kurdistan, where "large Kurdish forces," including four to six thousand outlaw Iraqi Kurds, have surrounded Iranian Army units. The Consulate comments that Kurdish headquarters in Tabriz are "a beehive of activity" and a "major Kurd drive" against the Central Government Army seems to be developing.

11. DENMARK: Faroes Loran station--Foreign Minister Rasmussen has informed US Minister Marvel that Denmark is opposed to permitting the US to operate the Faroos Loran station now maintained by the British, and desires to train Danes to replace the British, who are being withdrawn. Marvel believes that the Danish attitude reflects fear of Soviet reaction.
